

Preface

Dear Distinguished Delegates and Guests,

International Conference on Contaminated Sites Remediation 2011 International Forum (RCST 2011) was held in Chongqing, China, from October 25-27, 2011, serving as a platform for expertise exchange. RCST 2011 had drawn the attention of researchers from various disciplines: Contaminated Sites Policy, Standards and Management, Contaminated Sites Risk Assessment Research and Contaminated Sites Remediation Technology, etc.

Persons who attended the conference were engineers, scientists, managers of various companies and professors from the universities abroad and home. After the reviewing of all the submitted papers, 58 papers have been accepted for presentation at the conference and will be published by TTP, in Advanced Materials Research (AMR) Journal (ISSN: 1022-6680), which is online available in full text via the platform www.scientific.net. AMR should be indexed by EI Compendex according to the previous TTP index results.

We express our special gratitude to all the members of the General Committee Chairs, Program Committee Chairs, Technical Program Committee and Steering Committee who worked so hard to prepare for the conference and who supported the conference so professionally.

Contaminated Sites Remediation 2011 International Forum (RCST 2011) is organized by many units, as follows:
