

Preface

This is the Proceeding of the Symposium on Nanosciences and Chemistry, a satellite event of the Second International Conference on Science and Technology held in 2016 (ICST 2016) commenced in Yogyakarta, on 27-28 October 2016. The ICST 2016 has four symposia that are Nanosciences and Chemistry, Physics and Applied Physics, Geo-Maritime, Bioprospecting, and Computer Science with total 262 contributing papers. The First International Conference on Science and Technology 2015 (ICST 2015) was a success where more than 140 articles have made to the proceeding indexed in Scopus.

It would be impossible to produce this proceeding without full support from everyone in the organising committee, reviewers, and board of editors. We wish to thank the reviewers for countless hours of diligent work to review the manuscripts and to give critical comment.

We do hope that this proceeding will contribute well to the advancement of science especially chemical sciences. Also, the organising committee is looking forward to meeting you at the Third International Conference on Science and Technology, which will be held in July 2017.
