

Table of Contents

Preface

Chapter 1: Ecological Aspects of Textile Production

Use of Rosa Canina Extractions for Ecofriendly Textile Finishing R. Atakan, P. Diaz-García, J. Gisbert-Payá and M. Bonet-Aracil	3
Ecological Approaches in Yarn Dyeing E. Görse, M. Mancar, N. Ayvaz and G. Durur	15
Influence of Laccase Enzyme on the Biodegradability of Indigo Blue Dyed 100% Cotton Fabrics A. Sánchez-Martínez, M.M. Alejandro, M.P. Inés, B.A. Raquel, I. Montava and J. Gisbert-Payá	23
A Standard Terminology for the Description of Fibrous Microplastics from Textiles Y. Zhang, A.N.M.A. Haque, S. Ranjbar, D. Tester and M. Naebe	33

Chapter 2: Supply Chain Management and Training in the Apparel Industry

Australian Cotton and the Global Apparel Supply Chain: Sustainability Issues in Context Z. Mellick and A. Payne	39
Developing Training from Industrial Design to Innovative Design in Vietnam D.T.K. Duc and L.T. Thanh	49
The Presence and Effectiveness of Training Centres in the Apparel Industry A. Imran, S.U. Zaman, N.A. Choudhry, R. Padhye, L.J. Wang and A. Rasheed	61
Disruptions and Adaptations: Covid-19's Impact on Textile Supply Chain Management S. Rezaei-Arangdad and A.B. Godfrey	67

Chapter 3: Fashion Design and Development of Textile Industry

The Development of a Base Layer for a Sensorimotor Countermeasure Skinsuit: Garment Comfort and Mobility R. Bunford, B. MacRae, J. Waldie and R. Padhye	79
Money Talks, Fashion Walks: A Textile Motif Exploration in Womenswear Using 1960s Rupiah Banknote M. Saffira and K. Kahdar	93
The Aesthetic Factors Shaping Chinese Millennial Consumers' Purchase Intentions of Luxury Pyjamas: Implications for Future Design Y.M. Wang and C.Q. Rodriguez	107
The Intersection of Fashion and Climate: A Comparative Examination of the Australian Fashion and Textile Industry's Approach to Climate Change A. Badhwar, S. Islam and C.S.L. Tan	115
Lightness and Hue Dependencies of Color Difference Thresholds in Textiles under High-Illuminance Conditions Y. Chae and S. Moon	125